The road is to traverse the most temperate region and will connect at the United States frontier with the International and Great Northern road. WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

Died of his Injuries.

SEATTLE, June 30.—George Loverin, a blacksmith at Port Blakely mills, who was injured Tuesday last, died this afternoon.

The Colored Brother.

The colored brother, being new to political life and not so quick of apprehension as his whiter brethren, it is not surprising that he does not at once make himself enlightened. He is shown in that light by the report in a Washington paper of the proceedings of the latter's junior convention in session, as follows:

The proceedings of the convention went on quite peaceably. An argument was had on [illegible] question. Upon reassembling the committees were posted. Messrs. Gardner, White and Cameron were selected as [illegible] the standard bearer. Some of the speeches were cut off on account of the lateness of the hour. Secretary of Norfolk. Some were heavily taxed, and as the majority of the committees wanted to go under the triple influence of light, music and [illegible] the conference met, and the speeches were read. Before each conference there, many interrupted with [illegible] and applause. At last Barr appeared [illegible] invitation by the swooshing noise of [illegible] Walden, who stood aloft on the wings of his [illegible] Dove-like he descended the immortal Duck Soup Pitcher himself.

"If you don't give Massey the nomination," he thundered out, "reckless, song and history will place you as [illegible] with the notorious [illegible] Hitler!" and he shook his fist at the [illegible] palace.

"Mr. chairman," piped an old darkey whose hair was the hue of his white choker, "Mr. chairman, I rise to a point of order."

"State your point," said the chair.

"I rises, sar, to protest any such [illegible] being used. It's conversation."

"The language is all right," said the chair, "my gentleman misunderstood the remarks."

"But must be so, since you say so," remarked the antique African, taking his seat and solemnly shaking his head, "but it ain't decent language by de colored folk's dictionary."

STATE FAIR.

Twentieth Annual Exhibition of the Oregon State Agricultural Society.

The Second Day—Increasing Interest and Attendance—Scarcity of Cattle and Better Display of Machinery—Race Horses and Racing—Incidental Mention, Etc.

After our letter of yesterday had been mailed we were somewhat surprised to learn that the gate receipts exceeded those of the first day last year by a considerable sum. Our surprise arose from the fact that the crowd yesterday seemed to be the smallest we had ever seen on these grounds at a state fair. The outlook therefore may be set down as more encouraging and with the splendid weather which is now probable, the many attractions presented, and the energetic efforts of the managers to work things up to success, the expectations of those who are financially interested may yet be more than realized in one of the largest and most prosperous fairs ever held by the society. Should this [illegible] that will be the case.

The most extensive display is yet made in the grounds this year, is in agricultural machinery and implements, of which there is a perfect [illegible] Implement manufacturers seem to [illegible] the [illegible] special interest in many of them, which [illegible] have been made in this direction during the past quarter of a century, changing the old system of hand labor to one [illegible] by horse power and [illegible] the great crops of the land into a vast [illegible] and [illegible] to [illegible] and at an expense [illegible] much lighter than in the days [illegible] this inventive genius of the [illegible] a revolution than it has to this [illegible] many years ago [illegible] in cultivating it south and [illegible] fair ground is the best place [illegible] show these implements to [illegible] points to those who are [illegible] them, and the manufacturers [illegible] which have merited [illegible] Oregon public [illegible] [illegible] between Merritt and Tillie, with a bare chance for Hogan, which he lost before the upper end of the [illegible] reached. The stride now began [illegible] and was kept between the two leaders [illegible] Hogan losing about a length over Tillie, Hermit a fair third; time 2:17¼.

The trotting contest, which immediately followed, was not such a spirited affair as had been expected. The entries, Brey's Inauguration, Hogan's Western Chief and Kellogg's Fanny Kellogg, appeared in good condition, though Western Chief is too fat and Inauguration out of shape. Kellogg is too much flesh. Brey started off the fifth heat, Inauguration taking the lead and keeping it all the way round; Fanny K. thought breaking badly, keeping improperly well up and taking herself to an equality with the horse in the pool, which was sold at $5 each on Inauguration and Kellogg $2 on the Chief. Inauguration won the heat, in 2:42, while the chief was a bad third. On the second heat a start was had three times, but was unfortunate. After the first Inauguration winning in 2:36, the others coming in in the same order as before and both breaking badly.

Before starting for the third heat, Mercer, who drove Inauguration, called for a distance pole; and at the tap of the drum he led the horse out a length [illegible] decided the distance judge should have something to do. Fanny K. [illegible] broke as usual, but did some very fine work, and at the half mile post [illegible] the home stretch it was seen that the Chief and Fanny were [illegible] and with a beautiful stride he came sweeping under the wire, winning the heat by a length in front of Fanny K. seconds, winning the heat in 2:33 on the race, Western Chief catching the distance flag right in the face.

FRIDAY'S RACES.

Will [illegible] some fine sport, both to lovers of runners and trotters. The first trial will be running free for all for a purse of $300, dash of 1½ mile, in which the following entries have been made: Arthur Hogg names br h, Calibre R; Scorpio A. Powers names br h, Jim Merritt; A. J. Shuler names s h, Joel Douglas; T. R. Buchanan, Trade Dollar and C. Barnes names s h, Wanderer, two of the best known and fastest horses in this part of the country. There should be a good thing one and will take place [illegible] P. M.

Next will be followed by a trotting contest of the 2:30 class, mile heats, 3 in 5, for a purse of $200, in which DeFarmenti's Phillip, Lindsey's Dolphin and Daisy Kelly, [illegible] by H. S. Hogaboom, all good steppers and well matched.

INCIDENTAL.

Sales are very quiet, and so far the hotels, lodging houses, etc., have been able to accommodate all applicants without any great amount of [illegible].

On the fair grounds dinner not [illegible], nearly all go to the Arcade restaurant, which is convenient and well kept, plenty of good food and attentive waiters, being the object of the proprietors.

All the races this afternoon the grand stand was crowded to overflowing, the favorite in the pool selling [illegible] to $100 against $75 to $50 [illegible] Portmoor and Jim Merritt, Scorpio and Calibre, the Merritt set, Wilbur Dolly Mare and Wanderer, those offered. In drawing for places Billy Merritt got the inside, Jim Merritt 2, A. Merritt 3, Wanderer fourth, Portmoor fifth and Calibre on the outside.

They were got off with all much trouble, Maud over getting the lead and retaining it to the half, which [illegible] Filbert, who was last in the start, [illegible] up at a lively pace, and soon came up with Jim Merritt, who was keeping a good second. At the middle of the second quarter the whole six were on a bunch, Maydower, Tillie and Merritt being abreast and having two lengths the advantage of the three others. Here Billy M. and Maydower began to lose ground and Scorpio A. Powers, who had been [illegible] in cultivating it south and [illegible] fair ground is the best place [illegible] show these implements to [illegible] points to those who are [illegible] them, and the manufacturers [illegible] which have merited [illegible] Oregon public [illegible] [illegible] between Merritt and Tillie, with a bare chance for Hogan, which he lost before the upper end of the [illegible] reached. The stride now began [illegible] and was kept between the two leaders [illegible] Hogan losing about a length over Tillie, Hermit a fair third; time 2:17¼.

FRIDAY MORNING, JULY 1, 1881.

INDIAN LANGUAGES.

Study of the Indian languages of America has not been carried very far; yet the researches of the few philologists who have given the subject considerable attention have established the fact that a relationship exists among all the tongues of the northern and southern continents. That is, certain characteristics are found in common throughout all the native languages of America, though these languages often present dissimilar features,—and indeed on no other continent can there be found so great a multitude of distinct languages as in America. Again, those languages as a whole are sufficiently peculiar to be distinguished from the speech of all other races of the world. In general, the innumerable diversities of speech among the native races of America tend to range themselves under broad divisions, coalescing into groups and families, thereby establishing more intimate relationship between some, and widening the distance between others. So that, by comparison and classification the number of tongues and dialects, which at first appeared to be legion, are being constantly reduced.

These principal facts are familiar to all who have given any attention to the inquiry into the characteristics of the native languages of America,—and, indeed beyond these facts not very much is known. We are just now in receipt from the department of the Interior at Washington of a work entitled "An Introduction to the Study of Indian Languages," by Prof. J. W. Powell, the famous civil engineer, who, in the employment of the government, has traveled throughout Utah, Colorado, Arizona, and the neighboring regions. The work is accompanied by four kinship charts, designed to trace Indian genealogies. Mr. Powell, as head of the bureau of ethnology, has evidently given great attention to the investigation of Indian languages, and in this introduction to their study he presents the elementary facts in a general way. We are told that in the prosecution of the work of linguistic research, and the classification of the different linguistic stocks, a vast mass of disconnected facts had to be grouped together and assorted, and such vocabularies and grammars of Indian speech as had been from time to time prepared, were revised and compared with such data as had been independently collected. The result is a substantial progress, and a very large increase in the students engaged in the work. To meet the explanations demanded by different investigators from time to time, the present work was first published in 1875; and now this second edition is issued, bringing the preliminary investigations up to the date of the work. The author says: "It does not purport to be a philosophic treatment of the subject of languages; it is simply a series of explanations of certain characteristics almost universally found by students of Indian languages—the explanations being of such a character as experience has shown would best meet the wants of persons practically at work in the field of languages with which they are unfamiliar. The book is a body of directions for collectors." Farther, the author says; "It has been the effort of the author to connect the study of language with the study of other branches of anthropology, for a language is best understood when the habits, customs, institutions, philosophy—the subject-matter of thought embodied in the language—are best known."

For illustration of this purpose Prof. Powell presents an alphabet, adapted mainly from Prof. Whitney's preparation, and gives minute directions for its employment in recording the sounds of Indian language. This is followed with a full line of explanations with respect to the personality of the Indians, their dress, habitations, food, and other social particulars. Then follows a long schedule in blank for filling in the words which the student may collect from the Indians. It will be perceived that the work is strictly what it aims to be—a help to the practical student of Indian languages and customs. With its aid any one having the time and opportunity of conversing with intelligent members of a tribe might collect facts and information of the most valuable character, and if duly recorded in the order given, such information would be of great and immediate help to those who are at work reducing the facts to homogeneous form and system.

The difficulties to be met in treating such a subject may be conceived by those who have any knowledge from personal observation and experience of the wide variations of language among tribes or septs situated very near each other. At Puget Sound thirty years ago bodies of Indians who were living no more than ten miles apart in some cases could not understand each other's speech; and no doubt instances like this may yet be noted. But in such cases there are resemblances which the student may easily detect. Many interesting results may grow out of the further study and comparison of the Indian languages, and perhaps by tracing analogies to a common source light may be thrown upon the inquiry as to which is the original or older race. But it is not probable now that we shall have any light from study of these languages which will give a clue to connection of the races of the new world with any known race of the old. On the contrary, study of our Indian languages has proceeded far enough to indicate, as above stated, that they are sufficiently peculiar to be distinguishable from all other languages of the globe.

OPPRESSION AND REDRESS.

Most of the space allotted to cable dispatches by the American press is still devoted to the Irish land question. The general discussion of the question on both sides of the Atlantic, and its long continuance, show that the subject is not one of ephemeral interest. The same facts show too that behind it all there are deep-seated evils which are crying for redress. It is historically true that the present ownership of land in Ireland is largely, and indeed chiefly, the result of robbery and confiscation. But time has so far sanctioned this that it can not now be amended. The changes demanded by the reformers do not go to this extent, nor even approach it. They are embodied in what our dispatches have so often referred to as the "three Fs"—that is fixity of tenure, free sale and fair rent. These are the reforms which Ireland calls for, and which the British government, under the lead of Mr. Gladstone, seems likely to grant. The radicals indeed demand more,—that is, they demand these things under conditions that can not be conceded; and the difficulty which the government experiences grows out of the combined opposition of those who demand more than is practicable and of those who would concede nothing. Fixity of tenure and fair rent is defined as ability to stay on the soil without paying whatever arbitrary rent the landlord may choose to ask. Free sale of tenant right and fair rent signifies only the power to sell the improvements the former has made, "without having" them appropriated to the owner of the land by a raise in rent. It is matter of astonishment to Americans to learn that these are the great and so called radical changes which Ireland demands. They appear so entirely just, natural and reasonable, that it can only excite wonder that they should be resisted. That they are resisted with so much heat and violence does not show that they are unjust, but indicates a consciousness on the part of the land-owners that an examination into the historical causes of the present unsatisfactory relations will show that something ought to be done, and at the same time prove that something must be done. Hence all demands for inquiry are resisted, and all propositions looking even to moderate and clearly necessary reforms are denounced as assaults upon the sacred rights of property, vain is made for conciliation of communists and rebels, who can be governed only by the strong arm and the law of might.

The landlord in Ireland is simply a rent-taker. He has ability to fix the rent and to enforce acceptance of his decrees. A man may hold his ground provided he will pay any rent the landlord may ask. And as there is no vacant land to be found the Irish tenant is forced to pay any rent that will leave him the barest living. Of the five and a half million population about three million live directly by farming; but of these million not more than fifteen thousand own the land they work upon. That is, about five hundred and eighty-five thousand families rent their farms, and fifteen thousand own it. Besides these fifteen thousand, there are about ten thousand who own the rest of the land. A number of these have very small portions, so that the great bulk of the land really belongs to comparatively few people, who not only do not work it themselves, but in a majority of cases actually seldom see their possessions. One landlord, who lived in Paris for thirty years, received annually sixty thousand pounds in rent; all of which, except that spent for taxes and the management of the estate, was sent out of the country. In Ulster and Connaught, two and a half million acres, with a rental of one and a half million pounds, are owned by absent proprietors. This is more than one-third of the area of the two provinces. It is easy to see that any country which manages to collect in rent everything that is made from the soil, except what leaves the worker a bare living, and which then sends one third of that amount to be spent elsewhere, has a heavy drawback to its prosperity. It may be wondered how it is that the landlords are able to charge its whole surplus production for the use of the soil. The answer may be found in the keen demand there is for land. No matter what improvements the tenant may make, he cannot claim compensation; and advantage is taken of such improvements to raise the rent upon him. The statement is not unfounded that wages earned in America help in many cases to pay rents to Irish landlords. Without such help many a tenant in Ireland who has paid his rent would either have starved or been compelled to withhold it.

One great trouble is that the Irish people are impulsive and often violent. This, instead of hastening redress, may actually postpone it. Ireland has suffered classes; she is burdened with customs that wear out her strength. These the English minister would remove, or at least relieve, but he is obliged to pause in his remedial measures to preserve the authority of the law and repress violent proceedings. Then the privileged class, who oppose all redress, make Irish turbulence a pretext for obstinacy on their own part, and for application of the gospel of force to the "rebels." These are some of the difficulties of the situation but out of it all there must in time be evolved an adjustment that will relieve this people of the most severe of those forms of oppression under which they have so long groaned and labored.

Americans succeed better this year at boat racing than boat racing. The Cornell crew yesterday was "a bad third" on the Henley course. This, however, was to no small extent the result of bad luck in "drawing" for position. The Henley course describes a loop or curve in the river, and the distance of the outside course is not only greater, but the current is much stronger. Thus the Cornell crew, having unluckily drawn the outside position, were at a great disadvantage. Betting which at first favored them, turned against them two days ago when the choice of position went against them. There is to be more rowing, and as Cornell has entered to compete for a new prize, may next time have better fortune.

Still another Mississippi river improvement convention is summoned to meet at St. Louis on the 11th of October, to be composed of delegates from every congressional district in the valley of the Mississippi, for the purpose of further urging the federal government to carry out a complete system of improvement of the great river and all its tributaries. There are intimations that this convention will endeavor to form a junction with the Illinois canal undertaking, as if in present an undivided front to the federal treasury; and what is more, Secretary Windom is already on record as in favor of it.

CITY.

ARRESTED AND SUBMITTED.—The Shadamite case came up before Judge Stott yesterday morning. Present, J. W. Whalley and H. Y. Thompson appearing for the defense, and Messrs. R. Williams and F. Senger for Mr. Simon. The first witness introduced was E. L. Durham, city auditor and clerk, examined by the petitioner's counsel. The opposing counsel objected to the admission of his testimony on the ground that the certificate issued by the board was good evidence, and therefore took precedence of such evidence, and for the additional reason that the city, and for the additional reason that the board composed of the parties on whom the municipal court was served had now no legal existence, and could not be called on to reconsider a matter decided by them. The court ruled the testimony competent, but reserved the question from asking questions not within the rules of law. Objections and counter objections were argued until noon. At 1:30 P. M. argument in the case was resumed, and at 4 P. M. submitted. Judge Stott will render a decision Saturday.

WELL TRAINED HORSES.—About five weeks ago, the members of Willamette Engine Company No. 1, purchased their horses. The team was a "green one" at that time. However, the engineer and officers of the company commenced to teach the animals the duties and requirements of good fire horses. They have succeeded beyond all expectations, the horses exercising a degree of intelligence scarcely to have been looked for in dumb brutes. So well trained are the horses, that the instant the gong in the engine house taps, they spring out of their stalls and take positions on each side of the engine tongue, and ready to be hitched up. Even for time the engine starts, until the horses are in position, not more than four seconds elapse. It is a clever piece of mechanical contrivance, that chains horses each side of the stalls drop just as the bell taps, and ropes due to stop out, as one of the members remarked yesterday, the horses have become very "dry," and are never caught napping at their post.

BURGLARIZED.—Sometime during Wednesday night the grocery store of Messrs. Weeks & Morgan, at No. 75 Front street, was entered by burglars. An entrance to the building was effected by prying open the front door. The burglars cut a hole down through the top of the safe and abstracted therefrom $65.50. They also took a few dollars from the counter drawer. So far as known nothing else in the store was taken. The work must have been carried on very noiselessly for nothing was known of the burglary by the officers on that beat until early yesterday morning. The officer in making his rounds observed the front door open, and informed the proprietors of the burglary. There is one rather singular circumstance connected with this burglary. On Tuesday some one entered the store during business hours, and tapping the till, walked out unobserved with $6.10. Shortly after the money was missed.

ALUMNI MEETING.—The business meeting of the Alumni of the Willamette University, which was held at Salem on Wednesday, was well attended. Considerable business of importance was transacted, notably was the appointing of the class of '81 to act with Dr. Gatch, of the Wasco Academy, to raise a fund for the erection of a monument to the memory of Mrs. E. H. Grubbe. Following is the list of officers for the ensuing year: President, N. L. Butler; secretary, Addie M. Scriber; treasurer, Cora L. Robinson; orator for E. Q. A. Grubbe; orator for '82, S. C. Jory; poet for '81, Samuel L. Simpson; essayist for '82, Miss Etta B. Breyman; annalist, Miss Mary P. Strong.

ARRESTS FOR JUNE.—The police made the following arrests during the month just closed: Drunk and disorderly, 75; indecent exposure, 3; assault and battery, 12; larceny, 10; selling opium, 1; obscene and abusive language, 10; discharging fire arms, 1; prisoners en route, 5; suspicion of larceny, 2; burglary, 3; disorderly conduct, 8; vagrancy, 2; defacing a building, 1; stage robbery, 1; rape, 1; insane, 1; carrying concealed weapon, 1; assault with a dangerous weapon, 2; arson, 1; held as witnesses, 2; bribery, 1; assault with intent to commit rape, 1—total, 149. Arrests for June, 1880, numbered 190.

THE FOURTH AT OREGON CITY.—The 105th anniversary of the nation's independence will be celebrated on the bluff between Oregon City and Canemah. Following are the officers: President of the day, Major Thomas Charman; orator, Hon. L. C. Harris, vice presidents, Col. W. L. White, A. J. Apperson, Esq.; reader of the declaration, H. L. Kelly, Esq.; chaplain, Rev. J. H. Teale; grand marshal, Hon. John Myers; aids, Ackerman and P. H. Hatch. Following is the committee on arrangements: M. J. Broderick, J. R. Sheppard, F. G. Griep, J. Mader, C. F. Steckler, J. E. Dolan, Geo. A. Harding and Geo. Sachs.

AN EFFICIENT TREASURER.—Through inadvertence, the name of Mr. Andrew Roberts, who occupies the responsible position of treasurer of the fourth of July finance committee, has several times been omitted in the reported proceedings of the executive committee. The omission was an unintentional oversight. Mr. Roberts has been one of the most active and efficient members of the finance committee in raising funds, and the members of the executive committee fully appreciate his efforts.

A SUGGESTION.—All the sports for the holiday celebration are announced for the 5th of July, but ball and cricket are to be played on the same grounds, the former first. In case three or more clubs should compete, the games would run till late in the afternoon, and possibly crowd out the cricket sports. It might be well to arrange the cricket match for Monday afternoon after the parade, thus avoiding any chance for a conflict as to time between the two field sports.

ELECTION.—Last evening the regular election of the Portland Social Turn Verein was held. The following officers were elected: President, H. F. Junkerdorf; vice president, Franz Simon, recording secretary, G. Castendieck; corresponding secretary, H. A. Lobsien; financial secretary, Peter Wagner; treasurer, G. A. Ahlsky; 1st leader, Peter Brehm; 2d leader, Anton Seppeth; 1st property man, G. Winchester; 2d property man, Louis Schultz.

SHOOTING AFFAIR.—News has just been received here of a shooting affair which occurred at Albany Wednesday evening. A man named Neal and a white man who is known by the sobriquet of "Warm Spring Johnny" had an altercation, in the course of which the latter drew a revolver and shot the former twice, once in the thigh and once in the abdomen. The cause of the difficulty is not known. At last accounts Neal was alive, but it is still he cannot survive the injuries.

SLOWLY RECOVERING.—Andrew J. Belmont, watchman of the Oaklahama, who was jammed between that boat and the steamer California on the 7th of last January, is still under the Sisters' care at the St. Vincent's Hospital. But his friends will be pleased to learn that he has almost recovered from the injuries received, although it will take some time yet before he will be able to attend to his duties again.

THE BRASS BAND CONTEST.—Already four bands have entered, and everything bids fair for a brilliant contest. At the request of some bands from the interior, and to give all further time for perfecting their selections, the time for entering is extended till the morning of the Fourth of July.

NEW STEAMER.—Captain E. Sorrensen has this put on foot a new coasting steamer of 300 tons capacity for Z. J. Hatch & Co. She will be a neat craft, and when completed will be put on regular trips between Portland, Yaquina Bay, Tillamook and Gray's Harbor.

WILL MOVE EAST.—Mr. T. F. Oakes, vice-president of the Northern Pacific railroad, will leave in about ten days for New York, where he will have his office. The trip will be made overland from Spokan Falls through the country bordering the railroad.

EXCURSION TO ST. HELENS.—Many inquiries have come from St. Helens asking that the steamer Lurline be run to that city on the Fourth. It is likely that an excursion will be given, and if so, due announcement will be made in to-morrow's issue.

NEW MANAGER.—Mr. C. H. Prescott, formerly comptroller of the O. R. N. Co., has been appointed manager of that company and the Oregon Improvement Company, vice Mr. T. F. Oakes resigned. The appointment takes place to-day.

COLLECTIONS DEFERRED.—The wholesale merchants of this city have concluded to defer making the usual monthly collections until Tuesday, July 5th. Those interested will please make a note of this.

FOR PUGET SOUND.—Mr. T. F. Oakes, who returned a few days ago from a protracted business visit to the east, will leave here this morning for the Sound. He expects to be absent about one week.

PAVEMENT MEETING.—Immediately following the union service at the Y. M. C. A. Hall to-day, at 1:30, there will be a meeting of the pastors of the co-operating churches.

TO SALEM.—Reilly, who was sentenced a few days ago by Judge Stott to the penitentiary for the term of two years, for larceny, was taken to Salem yesterday afternoon.

LARCENY.—Yesterday afternoon Ah Sing, a Chinaman, was arrested for stealing two pairs of pants from Mendelsohn's clothing store on Front street.

AMUSEMENTS.

WIDOW BEDOTT.—After a vigorous stamping of feet in the gallery and a sharp rapping of canes in the circle at New Market Theater last night, the curtain rose, three-quarters of an hour after the advertised time, upon the opening scene of "Widow Bedott." The Nashy letters have gained for the writer a national reputation, but as a play on night Mr. Locke is not a success, and the audience gathered last night was not in the best of humor. The plot of the play of "Widow Bedott," if such it can be called, is in common with all other combination entertainments, that of displaying the merits of one or more artists in a particular line of business. During the second act of the piece a spirited controversy is given between "Widow Bedott" (Mr. Bishop) and "Deacon Sniffles" (Mr. Barrows), the former representing the Presbyterian, the latter the Baptist faith, and much is said which could in good taste be omitted. The stage is not the place to further such an end, or indulge prejudice, and while what is said may provoke much laughter, the majority of theater-goers did not come to hear it, and in no way was it essential to the success of the piece to introduce the coarse allusions, in fact it is a debris that does not properly belong in the leading role of the "Widow," unless all possible out of the character, rounding at times considerable pitch, especially in some of the scenes with the deacon, whom she finally entraps into the meshes of matrimony. Mr. Barrows, a gentleman well known in Portland amusement circles, appears in the role of "Deacon Sniffles," and fairly divides the honors of the piece. Mr. Barrows is conducting to improve and is rapidly securing a place in the profession highly gratifying to himself and his many friends. The remainder of the support is very fair, but not up to the standard reported of a combination calling under colors of Haverly. The piece will be repeated this and tomorrow evenings, and a matinee performance will be given Saturday afternoon.

THE STRAIGHT AND NARROW WAY.

HOW THE ANXIOUS ONES ARE PRESSING IN.

Hallenbeck's Services Yesterday.—"There is no Difference"—Praise Service to-day.

The intense desire of the people to obtain copies of the revised New Testament showed very clearly that the old bible had not lost its interest for the masses. The crowds that have for many days thronged to hear the unstudied, simple addresses of Mr. Hallenbeck proves with equal clearness that the "oft told Story," when told in spirit of love, still is of surpassing interest to the people. The hundreds of mid-summer, the demands of business with its engrossing cares, and all absorbing and pleasure hours of these have in a strong sense little power in the minds of humanity to hear the glad message of the gospel.

Yesterday there was no diminution in attendance but if anything the crowd was larger than at any other meeting. Mr. Hallenbeck's sermons are unique. They were all well attended, and with the Y. M. C. A. drill was full.

AT THE MORNING SERVICE.

Mr Hallenbeck spoke upon "The great sacrifice of Christ," dwelling upon its completeness. It was clear and practical. The sacrifice, after the law of Moses, took the form of animal prayer instead of the usual "continuity of living." The address was full of and especial interest to the meeting.

EVENING SERVICE.

At the evening service the usual song service was held. Prayer was offered by Rev. C. Wilbur. Mr. Hallenbeck read as the scripture lesson from the 21st chapter of Luke, gospel according to Luke. The soul-rousing teaching by Christ with the disciples at Jerusalem. "What must I do to be saved?" As the text he chose Romans 3:22, "For there is no difference." There is no salvation through keeping the law. The law simply points out the sinfulness of man, but it does not help him. Christ kept the commandments for us, but Christ paid to him that he still lacked. He illustrated this, using one Frenkie Fly how, and mother whom a sinner, lost and under condemnation. Neals faithfully warned all of the impending danger, every man outside of the ark was lost. Abraham faithfully warned all the citizens of the plain of the impending destruction; every soul that obeyed God either were lost. Disobedience, for a man to break all the commandments in order to obey heaven and go down to perdition. Souls are lost not generally in that way, but through a neglect of the plan. The service was a plain, faithful presentation of the gospel truths and the fact that by the law no soul can be justified.

The afternoon meeting was very large and the people seemed very much interested to hear. At the hour of 3 many still remained anxiously conversing upon the subject of religion.

To-day the services will be of unusual interest. The noon meeting will take the form of a praise service. A large chorus will occupy the pinafores, and Mesdames Emma, Goodsell, C. A. Dolph and others of Portland's fair cite vocalists will assist in the singing. Mr. Hallenbeck will also speak.

RELIGIOUS NOTES.

(Advocate and Sentinel.)

We learn that Rev. Father Covey, of Victoria, is again improving.

Archbishop Seghers will be at Walla Walla next Sunday, and will probably remain there the same week.

The ladies of Astoria are making great preparations to hold a fair in aid of St. Mary's hospital at that place.

Rev. L. Fouquet, O. M. I., missionary to the Indians in the Kootenay country, has been in this city on business during the last few days.

Bishop Haven had a slight attack of intermittent fever on Monday last, and the doctor advises him not to make any appointments for the present week.

The new M. E. church on Fourth Plain, W. T., is to be dedicated next Sabbath, the editor of the Advocate officiating at 11 A. M. and 8 P. M. Rev. L. A. Banks at 4 P. M.

We are happy to inform our readers of the Rev. Father Aylward's improved health. He is still in St. Joseph's hospital, Vancouver, and enjoys the refreshing air of its pleasant surroundings.

The Catholic ladies of the capital city are holding a fair in aid of the church in charge of the Sisters of the Holy Names at Salem. The fair is held at the fair grounds during the continuance of the state fair.

All persons attending the Canby campmeeting, traveling over the O. & C. railroad will, by arrangement with the company, be returned free on certificates from the secretary. Certificates will be good till July 20th.

Last Sunday the children of the Cathedral parish of this city, who were found to be sufficiently instructed, were permitted to approach holy communion for the first time. At precisely 8 o'clock the children, 33 girls and 22 boys, under the supervision of two Sisters from St. Mary's Academy, marched into the church from the schoolroom adjoining, the girls dressed very becomingly in pure white, with veils and wreaths on their heads, and boys in neat suits of black. Rev. Father Fierens, rector of the parish, officiated, and addressed the children. The St. Cecilia Society, under the efficient direction of Rev. A. J. Glorieux, rendered several beautiful hymns during the mass, and thus contributed in no small degree to the impressiveness of the occasion.

THE HOME.

The Children of this Institution Have a Pleasant Time at East Portland.

The 18 little inmates of the Children's Home, with the matron, Mrs. Reed, were very hospitably entertained by Mrs. H. D. Stratton, at her residence in East Portland, on Wednesday. A few of the ladies of the Relief society were present, the party.

The day was fine and cool, and the little ones had a glorious time in the grounds, the air seemed to do them good, that it was a pleasant sight to see them. Mrs. Stratton's residence is a beautiful one, and the children, many of them, like Topsy, had "never seen nothing like it before." Mrs. Stratton had provided bountifully for the occasion, and the tables were loaded with the delicacies of the season. We can only say that all present had a most delightful time.

Arriving at the house the children were driven from the steamer's landing in hacks and barges, and in their bright and pretty dresses, presented a pleasing appearance. Around the spacious grounds they were allowed to run at their own sweet will, and the merry laughter and shouts of the little ones, showed that they were enjoying themselves to the fullest extent. Swings were provided, and the children were kept busy during the afternoon. Refreshments were served at 5 o'clock, and with the exception of a few cases of indigestion, caused by eating too much ice cream, no accidents occurred to mar the pleasure of the occasion. The children were then driven to their homes, all voting the day the most delightful they had ever spent.

Mrs. Stratton desires to return her sincere thanks to the ladies who assisted her in entertaining the children, and especially to Mrs. Woodward & Mrs. Hall, who were with her during the afternoon.

Wheat—A Word to Farmers and Warehousemen.

THURSDAY EVENING, June 30.

Scarcely anything has been done in the wheat market, and without variation the current price here has been $1 30 per cental. On Tuesday the European markets looked up a little and gave holders hope for higher prices here, but to-day's cables report the market again off. There have been no engagements of ships during the week and the tonnage situation remains as reported last, except that several railroad ships then reported due have arrived. It may be said that the wheat market is firm at quotations, but that there is no business doing. Last season a great deal of business was carried on by shippers with borrowed wheat—that is, they shipped wheat to Europe and sold it on their own account while still it was actually owned by interior holders, the shippers making this use of the grain upon agreement to pay the market price whichever demanded. This was no advantage whatever to holders, but was done to repay obligations to shippers in the way of advances of money, barg, etc. The effect was to allow shippers large stocks at all times, when if they had been compelled to go on the market, prices would have advanced as they naturally do with the necessity of shippers. Thus after time the market was broken by just this system of loaning wheat. Already this season certain shippers are operating with a view to the same method of business next fall and winter. Bags are being sent out and sold at a small discount to farmers and warehousemen, who agree to sell to the parties thus favoring them. The result will be that holders accepting this favor cannot go upon the market and sell to whoever will give the most. And further, when asked for loans of wheat, they will be compelled to grant them. Holders should buy their sacks at the market prices rather than incur damaging obligations which not only affect themselves but all other holders.

Wool.

The Wool market has been very quiet the past week and transactions have been lighter than for any week since the season fairly opened. Buyers seem indifferent about buying unless strictly choice lots are offered, and even then they expect a concession of ½ cent a pound on former quotations. Wynoole Eastern Oregon 18c to 24c, and valley 23c to 27½c.

Salmon.

The average catch per boat during the past week on the lower Columbia, has been about 10 fish. Canners have now given up hope for improvement in the run. A canner at Astoria who has carefully investigated the matter, estimates that the shortage this year as compared with last year's product, will be 90,000 cases. This is considered as an intelligent estimate. Prices are unchanged—$5 per case of four dozen cans on the river.

Oregon Canned Fruit.

The sale of 1000 cases of Oregon fruit, to be canned this season by the Oregon City Packing Co., of which Mrs. A. L. Lovejoy is the principal and manager, was negotiated last week with a Liverpool house. The packing company also has option for 1000 more cases from the same parties, and negotiations are pending for a large lot of plums. J. R. Farish acted as agent in these transactions. This will be the first shipment of this kind ever made to Europe, and it opens the way for a business which may grow to great proportions and afford a market for an almost unlimited amount of fruit. Its success is of the highest importance.

One More Unfortunate.

Oregon farmers have discovered in more than one instance that it does not always pay to hold products for higher prices, especially if such products are of a character which may be injured by time. A Marion county farmer living near Silverton raised 81 bales of hops last year, which he could have sold for 10 cents per pound. He held them during the winter, hoping for higher prices, and two weeks ago sent a sample bale to a commission firm here, who discovered that the hops had perished, or deteriorated about two-thirds of their original value. Not satisfied, the farmer shipped his hops to San Francisco and put them on the market there. Five cents per pound is his highest offer, and he must lose $4,000 for having held during the winter. Raisers cannot be too careful in preparation of hops for market, and in case of them before selling.

Home Produce Market.

There is no improvement in dour. Stocks continue large. Oats are scarce, owing to heavy local demand and to large exports. Prices in San Francisco, however, are lower, and we look for a decline here also. Hay is very dull. Offerings are very large, and sales are difficult to make. Mill feed is scarce. The Imperial mills having shut down, causes scarcity. Prices have advanced. There is no change in cured meats or lard. Dried apples are extremely dull. Same old business—stocks large and an chance for improvement soon. Holders will do well to sell at any price. The same will apply to dried plums. There is no change in hides. Choice dairy butter continues in good demand. At present there is no call for pickled roll. Common store butter is plenty and hard to sell. Owing to lessened receipts of eggs during the last few days the price has advanced to 25 cents. What the next few days may bring forth it is difficult to say. Prices will probably drop. Choice Oregon cheese is now coming in, and is offered freely, at quotations. California cheese is out of the market. Receipts of chickens during the past week have been very large, and prices have dropped. Old potatoes are scarce and there is good demand for limited quantities. Following quotations to-day:

MARK LANE REPORT.

Review of the British Grain Trade for the Last Week—Crop Prospects.

LONDON, June 27.—The Mark Lane Express in its review of the British grain trade for the past week says that new white fronts have unfavorably influenced wheat closeness, which is now general. There are now no prospects of an abundant harvest, and whether an average yield is possible is a question of which grave doubts are entertained. Deliveries of native wheat are very restricted. Rates improved 1 shilling in the provinces and 1 shilling in London and notwithstanding higher rates trade was unanimated and very limited. Foreign trade was inactive. American red winter and white Michigan are scarce, and Australian being in good demand, all advanced 1 shilling. On Friday other descriptions improved 6d. Off coast American red winter reached 49s, and California 48s 6d. Spreculation in America filled to the fainter response. Supply of American small. Flour was in moderate supply and inanimate, but improved 6d to 1s on account of its scarcity. The same may be said of foreign barley. Trade is unanimated. For oats there was better feeling and values remained firm and a shade better. Foreign is firmer and improved occasionally. American maize is in small supply and a shade dearer.

is not a "cure all;" it is a blood purifier and tonic. Impurity of blood induces the scrofula, decaying, discoloration, and finally incurable many disorders, known by different names to distinguish them according to effects, but being really branches or phases of that great general disorder, Impurity of Blood, such as Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Torpid Liver, Constipation, Kidney Disorders, Head ache, Dizziness, General Weakness, Heart Disease, Dropsy, Kidney Diseases, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Skin Diseases, Pimples, Ulcers, Sweetings, &c., &c. King of the Blood prevents and cures these by attacking the cause, Impurity of the Blood. Chemists and Physicians agree in calling it the most genuine and efficient preparation for the purpose. Sold by Druggists. $1 per bottle. See testimonials, directions, &c., in pamphlet. Trouble on account of the blood," wrapped around each bottle.

DYSPEPSIA AND ITS BEFEADING

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure, sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with fits, the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin, his spirits are low, and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the liver to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

The genuine McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING on the wrapper.

Before buying the genuine Dr. C. McLane's LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., be sure that they have all of the name McLane, spelled differently. Let no one be deceived by those who have used worthless pills, but call for McLane's LIVER PILLS, and take no other.

For sale by all druggists and dealers generally.
